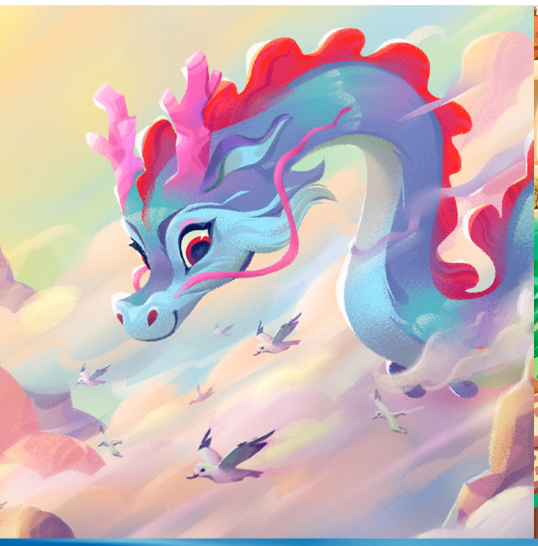
Wandson Rocha

info@beehiveillustration.co.uk


Studio Pupa is the magical place of creativity and transformation where Wandson Rocha gives wings to character creation projects, illustrations for children's literature, and authorial projects. Using the Pupa method, the studio aims to enchant the reader with its colours and expressive characters. Wandson is Brazilian, he doesn't live without a warm mug of coffee with milk, he loves watching animated films and he has two kittens called Memé and Pepé who inspire him in his authorial creations. His passion for drawing animals and nature dates back to his childhood and inspires him to this day. He has produced illustrations for advertisements, board games, textbooks, and literary books.
