

Justin has been a freelance illustrator and caricaturist since the mid 1990's, and a character design lecturer since 2007. He has an HND in Illustration and has attended several training sessions for Disney in Paris and Milan. Justin recently worked on the Sea Quest series of children's books, featuring his own character designs, and is currently working on his second boardgame. His first, Ore-some, is out this year. Justin lives in Hertfordshire with his wife, and several plants which refuse to die despite his neglectful care.
